The Malibu Community Labor Exchange is a non-profit, community service free of charge to both the worker and the hirer. The Center provides a safe, neutral and convenient site, away from neighborhoods and retail areas where hirers and workers can negotiate mutually agreeable work terms and conditions. All work is performed at the hirer’s work site under the hirer’s supervision.

The Labor Exchange does not guarantee the implied or stated skills of any worker. As the hiring authority, you have the right and responsibility to verify whether or not the worker’s skill, ability, and performance level is suitable before hiring and/or during his or her contracted work. The Labor Exchange is not an employer or employment agency. Any liability incurred as a result of contracted services is to be resolved between the hirer and worker, and the Labor Exchange expressly disclaims any liability of any kind. It is the sole responsibility of the hirer and worker to manage the work process and to ensure that needs are successfully fulfilled.
